Library Study Room Use & Reservation Policy

The library has 13 study rooms located on the upper level, main level and lower level of the library. Several of the study rooms are just quiet, enclosed spaces, but some of the study rooms are equipped with a television and VCR unit or, television, VCR/multi region DVD player, and two have a computer connected to a wall mounted TV with VCR/multi region DVD player. Dickinson college students, faculty, and administrators always have priority in the use of the library's study rooms.

Reservations for study room use are required at least 12 hours in advance. Use our online request form.

Terms of reservations:

- Reservations last no longer than three hours per day.
- Rooms left unattended for twenty minutes will be forfeited and materials removed to the circulation desk.
- You will be notified by email the room number that has been reserved. A sign will be placed on the door of the room. In the event we cannot fill your request, you will be notified by email.

Related Information

History/Revision Information

Responsible Division/Office:

Effective Date:
Library Study Room Use & Reservation Policy

Last Amended Date:  November 1, 2011

Next Review Date:

Also Found In: