

Spring 2020 INST Elective Courses

Globalization & Sustainability Concentration

1) Students in classes of 2020, 2021 with a Globalization & Sustainability concentration can select concentration courses from both the World Economy & Development & the Sustainability & the Global Environment lists.

2) Students in the class of 2022 forward must choose either a World Economy & Development concentration or a Sustainability & the Global Environment concentration with all concentration courses coming from the appropriate list.

World Economy & Development

ECON 214/SOCI 230: Political Economy of Gender
INBM 230: International Organizational Behavior
INBM 240: Marketing in a Global Context
INST 240/ECON 240: International Development
INST 290/POSC 290/EASN 206: Politics of High-Speed Growth in Asia

Sustainability & the Global Environment

ECON 222: Environmental Economics
POSC 290/EASN 206: Asian Urban Ecology
RUSS 248: Russian Culture & the Environment

Security Studies / Global Security Concentration

This list is applicable both for the classes of 2020, 2021 Security Studies concentration and the renamed Global Security concentration applicable to the class of 2022 forward.

ENGL 101: Women Write War
INST 271/POSC 271: Ethics & International Security
INST 281/POSC 281: American National Security Policy
INST 240/ECON 240: International Development
POSC 258: Human Rights
POSC 290/EASN 206: China's Foreign Relations