

This guide is intended to help students prepare for the visa process. Please note that visa requirements and procedures can change with little or no notice. The Center for Global Study & Engagement (CGSE) strongly recommends reviewing this guide before applying to study abroad to ensure that visa timelines and requirements do not conflict with other academic, travel, or personal commitments.

Visa requirements may differ based on your citizenship status. If you are an international student or hold dual citizenship, please consult CGSE early to understand how this may affect your visa process.

TIMING CONSIDERATIONS

For fall and academic year students

- For the fall and academic year, the visa applications are typically submitted to the consulate in early to mid-April (subject to change).
- Visa processing can take several weeks to months, especially during the summer.
- You will not be able to travel internationally while your passport is being processed and should plan accordingly.
- Plan ahead and contact CGSE with any concerns.
- International students returning home for summer may need to apply from their home country. Visa procedures and timelines may vary significantly. CGSE can assist, but it is your responsibility to confirm the process.

For Spring semester students

- Visa processing occurs during winter break and may take several weeks to months
- Visa applications are typically submitted to the consulate in late October/Early November.
- You will not be able to travel internationally during this time, as you must submit your passport as part of the application.
- Applications must be submitted at least one month before the start of the program, which means that if you are studying abroad in the fall semester at a different location, it may not be possible for you to obtain your visa between programs. You should consult the CGSE before making your plans.
- You may need to return to the U.S. between semesters to apply. Confirm your fall program's end date to ensure the timeline works.
- International students should confirm where they will be during visa processing. If returning to your home country, check how this affects your visa application. You may need to apply from your home country, where procedures may differ.

Non-US Passport Holders

- Non-US passport holders who require a visa will need to make an appointment to travel independently to the Philadelphia Consulate for fingerprinting once the applications are submitted.
