Microsoft Excel 2013: Apply a Color to Every Other Row

Sometimes rows get confusing when you have a lot of data & you are scrolling across. Adding a color to every other row helps keep your eye lined up on the correct row. Open a worksheet you want to apply a color for every other row. Select all of the cells.

On the Home tab, under the Format as Table select the color and style you want.
Click OK on the Format As Table dialog box. Your Excel sheet should now have the colors applied.
