PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The Carlisle African American Narratives Project began in March 1989 as the Carlisle Community Project: An Interracial Collaboration. The project founders were Reverend William E. Jones, William Spraglin, Verma Carroll, Susan Rose, Andrea Fishman and Jill Bartoli. The original group of student researchers included Marianne Esolen, Shelli Palmer, Richelle Owens, Peggy Rubens, Jennifer Robuck and Wendy Fleschutz. The project was aimed at collecting the personal narratives of members of Carlisle's black community to create an authentic, personally documented history of the black experience in Carlisle. The historical anecdotes and interview and observational data could then be used to support the writing of the community's own history in a magazine or book, to increase the educational, social, economic and political success of members of the black community in Carlisle and to help build a Black History course to be used in the school district.

COLLECTION DESCRIPTION

The collection is divided into 3 series. Series 1 consists of Interview Papers (all organized alphabetically by narrator's last name) – 1 folder of interview descriptions, 10 folders of interview transcripts from 1989-1990, 4 folders of interview transcripts from 1997-98, and 14 folders of interview transcripts from 2002. Series 2 consists of General Papers – 10 student papers (organized alphabetically according to author's last name), 15 folders of reading materials, 4 folders of project materials and 3 folders of research materials. Student papers are organized alphabetically according to author's last name. Series 3 consists of corresponding Media – 45 audio cassette tapes. All of the audio cassette tapes and digital videos have been digitized.
